'Confusing' speed camera zones to expand

By Mike Williscraft

Inconsistencies of signage and speed limits for Niagara's School Safety Zones are about to expand much to the concern of Grimsby councillors.

At Monday's council meeting, Reg. Coun. Michelle Seaborn informed council that the three speed camera locations in town will be extended considerably with the limit to be reduced to 40 kph in all areas. It has been 50 kmh on Livingston, near Blessed Trinity, to date.

"In May, the Community Safety Zones will have a new look with better signage and new and consistent speed. Many complaints involved signage - which was cluttered, too small, and had much too much information in a short space," said Seaborn.
